3. Quick learner
4. A teacher
5. Very caring
6. Communication
7. Outgoing

One of my biggest strengths would be my intelligence. I pride myself on what I know and how much I know. Everyone is smart in their own way, so bringing me into the company would help to further that knowledge. In many situations I was told that I am a teacher. I am able to learn something and explain it in a way that others can understand. Another strength would be communication, but it is also something that I am trying to work on. The more I get to know someone, the more talkative I am and the less I know them, the quieter I am. I am trying to be more of a person that isn't afraid to speak, no matter the situation.
